From the Pastor's Desk

"What should I call you?" That's what a salesman for a Church DVD Bible Study series asked me a few days ago when I answered the phone. That is a question people sometimes ask. I have never really cared much, and sometimes I say, "My mother named me Terry. So I have always answered to that." My children have said they have to say "Bro Terry" if they want me to listen to them, and that "Dad" doesn't work on me. A few people have said that they feel uncomfortable calling me by my first name because they don't think that is showing the proper respect.

I know that when you address a king, or a queen, or someone who has been elected or appointed to a high office, there is a proper way of addressing them: "Mr. President," "Your Highness," "Your Excellency," "Your Honor." I do believe that a title, or a proper address, is demanded to show respect for the position, but not the person.

Within the church there is a wide-range of titles that have been affixed to my name: "Brother," "Bro. Terry," "Brother Pastor," "Pastor Terry." Back in the day the name "Elder" was used for the office, according to the old church minutes. Then there was "Reverend," "Right Reverend," and "Very Right Reverend." Catholics have always used "Father." The Lutherans and Presbyterians use the word "Reverend." Baptists today just say "Pastor" or "Brother." My least favorite of all is "Preacher," but I will answer to that when it's used. My favorite memory is of little Madison calling me "Uncle Terry." That one made me smile.

Back to the question, "What do I call you?" Well, I think "Pastor Terry" is still quite appropriate for children, just like they call the elementary teacher "Mr. or Miss (name)." However, as they grow up and move into high school, college, and adult life, then, as Paul Simon said in a song, "When you call me, you can call me, (Terry)." I am still the pastor of the church; I still sign church letters, and certificates. I will still be introduced, at various times and places, as "Terry Fortner, the pastor of Zion Hill." But, realize please, no matter how you address me, I am Terry. I am just a member of the team. Saved, called, and given grace by God, just like everyone else.

You can call me "Terry," unless you're a salesman. Then you should call me "The Very Right Reverend Uninterested!!" God bless, and I love you all.

Message from Matt

We often hear the saying, "from the mouths of babes." It is amazing just how truthfully and simply a child can state something. While we were gone to CentriKid camp I had a child tell me, "these people are trying to tell me that Jesus died and actually came back to life!" My response was that it was true. This child responded back with, "that's some crazy stuff!" This conversation reminded me of just how much I take the actions of my Savior for granted. I mean, the most quoted verse in the Bible is probably John 3:16. How often do we quote it and never give it a second thought?!?

For God so loved the world that He gave His one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. - John 3:16

What an absolutely awesome gift we have been given in the Son of God! The fact that God loves us so much that He would even allow his Son to leave Heaven and to come here to Earth is quite a sacrifice. God did much more than that, though! God sent his Son to live among us, set an example for us, and then become the sacrifice for all of our sins. Through His sacrifice we can have a relationship with God that had not existed since Adam and Eve ate the forbidden fruit. This relationship is not just world-changing, it changes where we can spend an eternity if we give Christ control of our lives. There is very little written about Adam and Eve being able to walk with God due to the sin that entered their lives and separated them from God. With that in mind, Jesus did more than just be a sacrifice. He stayed here long enough to give us an example of how we should live in Him.

My mind can't even wrap around the thought of giving up my personal son for someone; not even someone who is good! God gave his Son up for sinners. Sinners like me and you are for whom Jesus Christ was sacrificed. It wasn't the end, though. On the third day, Jesus defeated death and claimed victory for us! He gave us a hope that we could never have without Him and now He sits with God the Father and intercedes for us! What an awesome story of love! The more I think about it, the more I can only say, "that is some crazy stuff!"

Bro. Matt
